LITERARY INTELLIGENCE.

THE INDEX MEDICUS.—We are pleased to announce that this valuable serial will be continued under the auspices of Mr. G. S. Davis, of Detroit, Michigan, a publisher of considerable experience, who also issues the "Therapeutic Gazette," the "Detroit Lancet," and the "Medical Age." The thanks of the medical profession are due to Mr. Davis for coming forward and taking up a periodical which up to the present time has not been commercially remunerative, and we hope that those of Great Britain and the Continent will come forward with subscriptions, and so help Mr. Davis in his efforts to make the periodical self-supporting. It is needless to say that were the editors remunerated for their labours, it would be utterly impossible to publish it. The following résumé of the aims and objects of the "Index Medicus" will not be out of place at the present juncture.

The "Index Medicus," now in its seventh year, records the titles of all new publications in Medicine, Surgery, and the collateral branches, received during the preceding month. These are classed under subject-headings, and are followed by the titles of valuable original articles upon the same subject, found, during the like period, in medical journals and transactions of medical societies. At the close of each yearly volume a double index of authors and subjects is added, forming a complete bibliography of Medicine for the preceding year.

Few words are required to demonstrate the utility of this serial. In its pages the practitioner will find the titles of parallels for his anomalous cases, accounts of new remedies, and the latest methods in therapeutics. The teacher will observe what is being written or taught by the masters of his art in all countries. The author will be enabled to add the latest views and cases to his forthcoming work, or to discover where he has been anticipated by other writers, and the publishers of medical books and periodicals must necessarily profit by the publicity given to their productions.

April, 1885.

Dr. Billings has for some time been engaged in preparing an Index-Catalogue of the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office at Washington, D.C., under each subject-heading, not only the separate books, but all important original articles in medical periodicals and transactions of all countries. This Catalogue has now been issued up to the 5th volume.

It was highly desirable that such a Catalogue should be supplemented by some current publication, showing all recent works, with articles in periodicals, arranged by subjects, but until 1879 no proper means were available for such an undertaking. The late Mr. F. Leypoldt, of New York, undertook the publication of this medical bibliographical serial, upon the condition that the manuscript for it was furnished of the requisite completeness and accuracy, and this last Dr. Billings has supplied.

All books, pamphlets, and periodicals sent by their authors or publishers to the "Index Medicus" will, after record and analysis, be placed in the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office; and the hope that the contributions to the Library from this source will be large, and thus permit of the application of the limited fund provided by government for its support to the purchase of the many works still required for it, has been Dr. Billings' main inducement to furnish the necessary data. Beyond the satisfaction in thus contributing to the convenience of the medical world, and to the completeness of the Library under his charge, he has no personal or pecuniary interest in the enterprise.

In the details he has been assisted by Dr. Robert Fletcher, M.R.C.S.E., who has been for some time past on duty in the Library of the Surgeon-General's Office, is perfectly familiar with its methods, and is in every way specially well qualified to manage the editorial part of such a publication.

All medical men who approve of the object for which the Index is issued will, it is to be hoped, put their approval into practical shape, by doing two things, viz. ;—1st, subscribing promptly for the "Index"; and 2nd, taking care that a copy of every book, pamphlet, etc., of which they are the authors, is forwarded to the editors.

It is also hoped that all publishers of medical works, large or small, will see that it is to their interest that each of their publications is promptly sent to the editors in order to secure an early and accurate priced record in the "Index."

DASTUR DR. JAMASPI MINOCHERJI JAMASPASANA.—As an acknowledgment of his labours in connection with the Avesta, Dastur Jamaspi Minocherji Jamaspasana, High Priest of the Parsis in Bombay, has been created a Doctor of Philology by the University of Tübingen.

CRITICAL EDITION OF THE MANAVA-DHARMASASTRA, OR THE LAWS OF MANU.—It is not so surprising as it might appear at first sight that the text edition of the Laws of Manu by M. A. Loiseleur Deslongchamps, published in 1830, should have remained these 55 years the standard edition of that important work of ancient Sanskrit literature. In those early days of the cultivation of the classical language of India by European professors, the number of Sanskrit publications was obviously limited: and later on the study of the Vedic Sanhitās opened up a new and fruitful field of research, which in due course led on to the systematic investigation of the subsidiary works on Vedic sacrifices, ceremonial laws, and domestic usages. The discovery that in these works was to be sought the source and foundation of the current codes of Hindu Law which go by the names of Manu, Yājñavalkya, Gautama, Nārada, Baudhāyana, Vishnu, and others, supplied a solid historical basis for the critical study of the latter, while more recently the search for ancient Sanskrit manuscripts throughout India, conducted at Government expense, has brought to light a number of valuable additional commentaries on Manu, the very names of whose authors were scarcely known in Europe when M. Loiseleur Deslongchamps published his edition of the text. The important bearing of those studies on the existing codes, and the mass of fresh material available, have now prepared the way for a new and critical edition of the text of Manu that shall be in accordance with the present standard of Sanskrit scholarship. This work, now ready for the press, was taken in hand several years ago by Dr. J. Jolly, Professor of Sanskrit in the University of Würzburg, and the highest authority on Hindu Law, who by his Tagore Lectures, delivered in Calcutta in the winter session of 1882-3, has achieved as great a reputation in India as he has long enjoyed in Europe. But whereas M. Loiseleur Deslongchamps was able to use only a few MSS. of the commentaries of Kullūka and Medhātithi, and an imperfect one of Rāghavānanda, Dr. Jolly proposes to give a text, with all the various readings, as constituted from the best existing MSS. not only of the three commentaries above named, but also from those of Govindarāja, Nārāyana, Nandana, and an anonymous commentary from Kashmir. Beyond this critical apparatus, which will considerably enhance the value of this edition, Dr. Jolly does not intend to make any further addition to the volume. He will shortly bring out in the Bibliotheca Indica a separate volume of extracts from all the commentaries, and he also expects that the student will refer for any explanations to the notes attached to the two English translations, viz. the one by Burnell and Hopkins recently published by Messrs. Trübner and Co., and another by Professor Bühler which will form two volumes of 'The Sacred Books of the East.' Messrs. Trübner and Co., the publishers, will spare no expense in making this text edition in all outward respects worthy of the labour bestowed upon it by its learned editor.

LIFE AND TRAVEL IN INDIA.—By A. H. Leonowens. (London, Trübner, & Co.; Philadelphia, Porter and Coates). Landing at Bombay in the year—(she does not give a date), the talented authoress of the "English Governess at the Siamese Court" gives a very interesting account of her own and her husband's travels in India before the days of railroads. Wherever she journeyed, very little seems to have escaped her attention, and at this time, when more than usual interest is being evinced in our great dependency, those who have not the time, or who cannot afford to visit the country, may here gain a good insight into Indian manners and customs. We cannot help quoting the tender Hindoo farewell which she received on one occasion. "The gods send that neither sun nor wind, neither rain nor any earthly sorrow, brush by thee too roughly, my friend." The book is so interesting that it reads more like a romance than a relation of real facts and incidents.

THE MAHABHARATA.—Several Indian Princes have given considerable sums towards the translation and gratuitous distribution of the Mahābhārata published by Protap Chandra Roy. Amongst those who have contributed funds towards this laudable project we may mention the Maharajah of Cashmere, the Nawab Khayeh Abdul Gani Bahadur, the Maharanee Swarnamayee, the Guikwar of Baroda, and the Maharajah of Travancore. Funds being required for the production of an English version of the "Vana Parva or Forest Book," one of the largest books of the Mahābhārata, the Babu Govinda Lal Roy, a rich zemindar of Rungpore, contributed the sum needed, on the occasion of his daughter's wedding. The last number of the "Vana Parva" contains the exquisite story of "Nala and Damayanti."

THE AMARA KOSA.—Mr. Anundorum Borooah, B.A., etc., contemplates publishing a critical edition of the Amara Kosa with the commentaries of Xira svami and Rayamukuta and extracts from others. This work will occupy about twelve parts of one hundred and four pages each. The publication of these commentaries will be likely to upset some pre-conceived and cherished opinions, and they are very valuable and important from an historical and philological point of view. As the publication will depend upon the number of subscribers obtained, those who wish to support it are requested to send in their names at once to Trübner & Co., Ludgate Hill, London, who will register them as received. The price will probably be one shilling per part to European subscribers (8 annas), which is a very reasonable one for such a work.

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM IN THE VERNACULARS OF THE EAST.—The Journal of the Anjuman-i-Punjab for April 9, 1885, says that during the Rawal Pindi Assemblage, the President of the Anjuman-i-Punjab presented the Viceroy with various Hindu and Persian versions and adaptations of the National Anthem on illuminated rolls in an ivory casket. Analyzing the existing translations as misleading, the Anjuman prepared a plain explanatory translation in prose, and offered a prize for competition among native poets, one a Kabuli, and elicited versions specially adapted to express native loyalty on the historical occasion in question. The Private Secretary to the Viceroy distributed reprints in gilt letters to native noblemen and gentlemen. The Secretary to the Punjab Government also, we believe, distributed a considerable number of copies to Duhari.

THE CHITTAGONG HILL TRIBES.—Messrs. Asher and Co. have published the results of Dr. Emil Riebeck's researches among the Chittagong Hill Tribes, translated by Prof. A. H. Keane, B.A.; it contains 84 pages of text, in large folio, illustrated with wood-cuts, and zinc etchings, one coloured map, two chromolithographs and nineteen phototype plates.

A CHINESE ORIENTAL SOCIETY.—An Oriental Society was formed in Peking in February of this year for the prosecution of researches in Chinese Literature. The President is Dr. W. A. P. Martin of the Government College. Among the members of the Council are the British and American Ministers, Dr. Bushell, C. Arendt, Esq., and Dr. Edkins.

FRANCE AND TONGKING.—This is a narrative of the campaign of 1884, and the occupation of Further India, by Mr. James George Scott (Shway Yoe), who was a special correspondent in Tongking. This is the first attempt to give a history and description of the French possessions in Indo-China that has appeared in English. Without entering into the merits of the quarrel between France and China about Tongking, we must say that the proclamation of Liu Jung-fu, the Black Flag Chief, reads like a thoroughly manly straightforward document. The plans and maps in the volume are all from approved French sources, the book does credit to Unwin Bros., Gresham Press, and is published by Mr. T. Fisher Unwin, of Paternoster Square.

PETŐFI'S POEMS.—Mr. Henry Phillips, jun., some years ago when studying the Magyar language, was attracted by the poems of Alexander Petőfi, whose compositions, though chiefly of a melancholy and lugubrious cast, obtained a wonderful hold on the minds of his compatriots. Nineteen of Petőfi's poems Mr. Phillips translated, and has this year had them privately printed. They bear internal evidence that Mr. Phillips has mastered the spirit and power of the originals, and done justice to them by his translation.

TOPOGRAPHICAL ENGINEERS OF U.S.A.—General John Newton, Chief of Engineers, has presented his report for the year ending June 40th, 1884, and it has been printed at the Government Printing Office in four bulky 8vo. volumes. The Chief of Engineers recommends the building of steel forts or turrets for harbour defence which can resist guns that can send a projectile weighing a ton through sixty feet of sand. The Topographical Engineers amongst their multifarious employments appear to fill some of the duties which here devolve on our Trinity Brothers, such as the care of harbours, anchorages, mouths of rivers, etc., etc., which makes the report of prime importance to navigators of American waters and to mariners generally. The engineers who have charge of the embankment and improvement of rivers in India will find the Reports of the "Chief of Engineers" of great assistance to them in their labours, as the report deals with "shifting banks" and other phenomena common to the rivers of the Far East and the Far West.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE BRYENNIOS MANUSCRIPT.—The Johns Hopkins University has issued three pages of the Bryennios Manuscript, reproduced by photography from the original text, and edited with notes by J. Rendel Harris, Associate Professor of New Testament Greek and Paleography in the Johns Hopkins University. These pages include the last verses of the Epistle of Barnabas; the superscription and opening of the first Epistle of Clement; the close of the second Epistle of Clement; the first verses of The Teaching of the Apostles; the last verses of the Epistle of Ignatius to the Romans; etc. A few copies are offered for sale. The edition is strictly limited to one hundred and twenty-five copies, and orders should therefore be sent at once to Trübner and Co., London, or the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

THE RIVERSIDE ALDINE SERIES.—In this series Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin, and Co. (Boston, Mass.) are issuing a collection of choice books of American Literature, printed and bound in a style which aims to preserve the traditions of Aldus and Pickering. The first four volumes of the series are "Marjorie Daw, and Other Stories," by Thos. Bailey Aldrich. "My Summer in a Garden," by Charles Dudley Warner. "Fireside Travels," by James Russell Lowell, and "The Luck of Roaring Camp, and Other Stories," by Bret Harte, to be followed shortly by "Venetian Life," in two volumes, by Wm. Dean Howells, and "Wake Robin," by John Burroughs. Other volumes will be announced later.

THE AMERICAN GEOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY.—The fourth number of the Bulletin of the "American Geographical Society" for 1884 contains an account of the Arctic meeting at Chickering Hall to receive Lieut. A. W. Greely, of the U.S. Army, and his surviving companions. And also Lieut. Fred. Schwatka's Explorations of the Yukon River in 1883.

AN ANTIDOTE AGAINST MELANCHOLY.—The Pratt Manufacturing Company, known for their Astral Oil, Vaseoline, and Naphthas, have a second time embarked in literature, but not for profit of a pecuniary character. They present their customers with a Christmas (1884) gift of an elegantly printed little volume entitled "An Antidote Against Melancholy," compounded of choice poems, jovial songs, merry ballads and witty parodies, most pleasant to read. This forms a nice companion to the Company's Christmas gift of 1882, "A Paradise of Daintie Devices." We may mention that a special edition of the "Antidote" is published for sale at three dollars.

BUREAU OF AGRICULTURE.—The Report of the Hon. Geo. B. Loring, U.S. Commissioner of Agriculture, for 1884, has been issued. Besides the Reports of the Commissioner, and those of the Chemist, Botanist, Forester, Chief of Animal Industry, Entomologist and Statistician, which get more valuable every year as their researches become more and more thorough, there is a special article on the cultivation of Alfalfa, by Mr. Peter Henderson. This plant, known in Europe as lucerne, but on the Pacific Coast as Alfalfa, from the great depth to which it sends its roots, is particularly suitable as a forage plant in dry climates, such as Florida and Australia. Besides being valuable as a forage plant, Alfalfa prepares land for wheat. It is on record that land that would not grow wheat, after five crops of lucerne, was fit for it.

NORTH AMERICAN ABORIGINAL HISTORY.—We have before us three pamphlet contributions to this subject. One is by Charles E. Putnam, "A Vindication on the Authenticity of the Elephant-Pipes and Inscribed Tablets in the Museum of the Davenport Academy of Natural Sciences from the Accusations of the Bureau of Ethnology." Passing from the quarrels of experts about antiquities, which are always doubtful objects to classify and fix an epoch for, we come to two pamphlets by Mr. Horatio Hale—the one on the "Iroquois Sacrifice of the White Dog," reprinted from the "American Antiquarian"; and the other a life of the great Mohawk Chief, George H. M. Johnson, whose Indian name was "Onwanonsyshon," a truly noble specimen of the human race, a man born to govern, who was descended from a friend and fellow-member of the Council of Hiawatha, the great founder of the League of the Six Nations. Such biographies do one good to peruse, and, as Mr. Hale observes, deserve a more permanent record than that of a newspaper obituary. This biography is reprinted from the Magazine of American History for February, 1885.

HEGEL'S ÆSTHETICS.—The fourth volume of Messrs. S. C. Griggs and Co.'s German Philosophical Classics for English Readers is a critical exposition of Hegel's Æsthetics by Prof. John Steinfort Kedney. This volume is a précis of Hegel's great treatise, leaving out such details and elaborations as would be of little use to the student. The great fault of the German language is that it is too diffuse and roundabout, whilst its English relative goes into the other extreme of being too concise, if such a fault is possible.

THE TENTH CENSUS OF THE U.S.—Volume nine of the Tenth Census of the U.S.A., 1880, is now ready; it is by Special Agent Charles S. Sargent, and contains a report on the Forests of North America, exclusive of Mexico. Part I. consists of a Catalogue of the Forest Trees, together with an Index. Part II. is on the Woods of the United States and Part III. contains the Forests of the United States in their economic aspects, with maps of their distribution and density. A general index of thirty-two pages accompanies the volume, the whole forming a valuable cyclopædia of Forestry of 612 pages, with a separate folio atlas of 16 maps, which should be in the possession of every one studying climatology or forestry, both of which are so closely allied.

INTELLECTUAL LIBERTY.—So closely connected with civilization is the history of the progress of individual thought, or as it is sometimes now named "free thought," that Mr. Frederick May Holland's "Rise of Intellectual Liberty from Thales to Copernicus," published by Messrs. Henry Holt and Co., New York, forms a valuable addition to our library of works on the progress of the human race. Mr. Holland was the author of a noteworthy little book entitled "The Reign of the Stoics." The opening of his first chapter to the book now before us, which we here quote, gives a very good insight into the aim and character of the work. "Five-and-twenty centuries ago, scarcely any man rose above the station in which he was born. Few could choose even what to do, much less what to think. There were no teachers but the priests. Urgent business was constantly delayed, and atrocious crimes instigated, by dread of signs and omens. All the keys of knowledge were in hands busy with slaying sacrifices, pointing out auguries and collecting fees. Rulers, priests, and people worked together to keep things as they were, and make every one think and act alike. The establishment of order had been necessary for social existence, but there was constant danger of the stagnation that always breeds corruption. That the earth is brighter and richer to-day than it was then is largely due to the men and women who toiled and died to stir up mental activity and encourage individuality. Widely different beliefs and unbeliefs have worked together in the rise of Intellectual Liberty!"

GOMBO ZHEBES.—Under this title, which is a Creole name for a culinary preparation of something the same kind as the French "pot au feu," Mr. Lafcadio Hearn, of New Orleans, has issued in New York a 4to. volume of Creole proverbs, with translations into English and French. The Creole dialects represented in this volume are those of French Guiana, Hayti, Louisiana (New Orleans), Martinique, Mauritius, and Trinidad. This is a laudable endeavour to rescue a branch of folk-lore from oblivion; but, as the author himself says, it is far from a perfect collection of proverbs. He rather intends it as a first effort to register and preserve Creole proverbial philosophy. To make such a collection complete it would require a corresponding Society of folk-lorists in each of the districts where a Creole dialect has been formed. It is surprising how little has been done for Creole. In a "Bibliography" which Mr. Hearn gives at the beginning of his little work, he only mentions six different volumes on the subject besides four articles in Harper's Magazine by the Hon. John Bigelow.

The competition is in no way confined to members of the Society, nor to residents in Australia, but is open to all without any restriction whatever, excepting that a prize will not be awarded to a member of the Council for the time being; neither will an award be made for a mere compilation, however meritorious in its way. The communication to be successful must be either wholly or in part the result of original observation or research on the part of the contributor. The Society is fully sensible that the money value of the prize will not repay an investigator for the expenditure of his time and labour, but it is hoped that the honour will be regarded as a sufficient inducement and reward. The successful papers will be published in the Society's Annual Volume. Fifty reprint copies will be furnished to the author free of expense. Competitors are requested to write upon foolscap paper, on one side only. A motto must be used instead of the writer's name, and each paper must be accompanied by a sealed envelope bearing the motto outside and containing the writer's name and address inside. All communications to be addressed to the Honorary Secretaries, A. Liversidge and A. Leibius, the Society's House, 37, Elizabeth Street, Sydney.

In Memoriam.

ARTHUR.—Mr. T. S. Arthur, the editor and publisher of "Arthur's Illustrated Home Magazine," died on March 6th, in Philadelphia. He was born near Newburg, Orange County, N.Y., in 1809, and was a very prolific writer of fiction pervaded by a high moral tone, much of it of late years having been in the cause of temperance. Mr. Arthur was a member of the First Church of the New Jerusalem, the pastor of which, the Rev. Chauncy Giles, officiated at the interment at Woodlands.

NOYES.—Mr. Stephen B. Noyes, the Librarian of the Brooklyn Library, the compiler of the great catalogue of 83,000 volumes of that library, died on March 15th at De Land, Florida, where he had gone for his health. He was born in 1834 at Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Noyes' father was Professor of Greek and Hebrew at Harvard College, where his son graduated in 1853.

OBEIDULLA.—The death is announced of the Pandit Obeidulla, the Superintendent of the Dacca Madrissa; he was one of the best known Arabic and Persian scholars in Bengal.

TRUMPP.—The Rev. Ernest Trumpp, Ph.D., of Tübingen, who died on the 10th of April, 1885, was born at Wurtemberg, the 13th of March, 1828. In 1854 he was created Ph.D. of Tübingen, where he was in Lutheran orders, and was appointed a Missionary to Sindh in Western India, by the Church Missionary Society. In 1856 he was ordained deacon by the Bishop of Bombay, and went to Sindh and the Punjab. In 1858 he was ordained a priest by the Archbishop of Canterbury, and went to Peshawar, North India. With the aid of certain Sikh priests he undertook the translation of some of their sacred works. In 1874 he returned to Europe, and was elected to the chair of Oriental languages at the University of Munich. His principal works are:—Materialien zum Uebersetzen aus dem Deutschen in's Hebräische, Heilbronn, 1855; Sindhi Reading Book in the Sanskrit and Arabic Characters, London, 1858; On the Languages of the Kafirs, of the Hindoo Caucasus, 1866; Diwan of Abdul-Latis Sciah, Sindhi, 1866; Grammar of the Sindhi Language compared with the Sanskrit, Prakrit and the cognate Indian Vernaculars, London, 1872; Grammar of the Pasto, or Language of the Afghans, compared with the Iranian and North-Indian Idioms, London, 1873; Einleitung in das Studium der Arabischen Grammatiker, Die Ajrumiyyah des Muhammad bin Daud, Arabischer Text mit Uebersetzung und Erläuterungen, Munich, 1876; The Adi Granth, or the Holy Scriptures of the Sikhs, translated from the original Gurmukhi, with Introductory Essays, London, 1877.

His critical edition of Shakespeare was published between 1857 and 1863, in twelve volumes. His "Shakespeare's Scholar," written against Collier's Folio MSS., appeared in 1854; but his best-known book was "Words and their Uses."

DR. P. A. VAN DER LITH,

Professor at the Leyden University,

AND

DR. D. JOSEPHUS JITTA,

Barrister and Member of the Town-council.

57 & 59 LUDGATE HILL,
LONDON, MAY 1885.

On the July 1st next the first number of the above named new Colonial Monthly Periodical will make its appearance, which undoubtedly deserving your most lively interest, we confidently recommend to your appreciative attention.

As the title suggests, the Review will be devoted to the discussion and promotion of Colonial interests in general; such interests being of rapidly increasing importance arising from the fact that many new colonies are now being founded.

To preserve the international character that is contemplated by this Review, articles will be accepted and inserted in the English, French or German language indifferently, so as to give all authors and scientific writers an opportunity to impart the results of their most interesting researches, discoveries, or observations, in their own language and at the same time introduce them to the notice of a great international circle of intelligent readers. The Revue Coloniale Internationale will thus exhibit a great variety of contents and interesting matter combined and particularly:

Articles upon the Government, and treatises on the Jurisprudence, Commerce, Industry, and the Cultures of the various colonies.

Discoveries, Travels and Voyages, Geography and Ethnology will receive a large share of attention.

Important publications bearing on Colonial Literature will be amply discussed.

In short any subject bearing on the interests of the Colonies, will be without exception specially attended to by the Editors, and they will endeavour to engage the most competent writers to impart their judgment and the fruits of their studious exertions.

The Review will further contain as complete a Bibliography of Colonial Literature as can be obtained, under the management of Dr. H. C. Rogge, Librarian of the Academy Library of Amsterdam.

The Editors will adopt in all communications of their own the French Language.

The publication will be in Monthly Numbers.

The subscription-price including postage for all countries within the Postal-Union will be 25/ per annum or 12/6d per half year.

Separate Numbers will be supplied at the rate of 2/6 each.

A List is appended of those gentlemen who have already agreed to contribute articles.

INDEX

TO ARTICLES RELATING TO ORIENTAL SUBJECTS IN CURRENT PERIODICAL LITERATURE.

This Index is an attempt to form a Key with which any one interested in Oriental Literature may find any article or review that has been written on any given subject. It is recognized that this can only be an attempt—many omissions will assuredly be found, but it is proposed to include such omissions, as they may be noted, in future numbers. Every endeavour will be used to make the Index as complete as possible. Several Oriental periodicals are omitted from this list, not having reached us in time. It is proposed to commence only with periodicals dated on and after Jan. 1, 1885.

NOTE.—The letter N. at the end of a line signifies that the article is only a review or notice of the work, of which the title is given. Authors names are in italics.

AN ACCOUNT OF THE GERMAN MORALITY PLAY ENTITLED

DEPOSITIO CORNUTI TYPOGRAPHICI,

As Performed in the 17th and 18th Centuries.

With a Rhythmical Translation of the German Version of 1648.

By WILLIAM BLADES,

(Typograph).

To which is added a literal reprint of the unique original version, written in Plaet Deutsch by Paul de Wise, and printed in 1621.

It is hoped that this little book will be a pleasant surprise not only to those interested in printing, but also to the general public, as illustrating a subject which the author believes is new to English literature and unknown to many conversant with ancient German lore. It is curious that out of thirty-nine libraries on the Continent only seven have copies of any edition of the original work.

MILTON AND VONDEL,

A Curiosity of Literature.

By GEORGE EDMUNDSON, M.A.,

Late Fellow and Tutor of Brasenose College, Oxford, Vicar of Northolt, Middlesex.

The purpose of this work is to show that Milton was largely indebted in the composition of his "Paradise Lost" to the "Lucifer," a drama of his illustrious Dutch contemporary, Ioost van den Vondel; also to "Joannes Boetgeant," an epic; to "De Bespiegelingen van Godt en Godtsdienst," a didactico-religious poem; and to "Adam in Ballingschap," a drama by the same writer, in portions both of "Paradise Lost," and "Paradise Regained;" and lastly that Vondel's drama, "Samson," has considerable claims to be regarded as the literary parent of "Samson Agonistes."

On the other hand, Classical and Semi-Classical Works number Nineteen; of Historical MSS. there are Ten, and of Canons of Councils, Five.

MEDALLIC ILLUSTRATIONS OF THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND

to the Death of GEORGE II. Compiled by the late EDWARD HAWKINS, F.R.S., F.S.A., and Edited by AUGUSTUS W. FRANKS, F.R.S., F.S.A., and HERBERT A. GRUEBER. In Two Volumes. 8vo. cloth. pp. xxxiii. 724 and 866. With numerous Woodcuts. Price £4 4s.

Since the year 1802, when the second edition of Pinkerton's "Medallic History of England to the Revolution" was published, no general work has appeared on English medals.

The want of a more careful and complete treatise on this important subject has long been felt, and in some measure to meet this want is the object of the present publication. It contains descriptions of all medals at present known that illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland to the end of the Reign of George II., whether struck in this country or abroad, whether relating to public events or private persons, and whether contemporary or executed at a later date.

Each medal is described in detail. The metal or metals are stated in which each medal occurs, and its size is given in inches and tenths. References are made to works in which the medals are illustrated, and collections are cited in which the rarer examples are to be found. Such historical observations as seemed necessary have been added.
